Wrong policemen as thieves on tour

Be cautious there are wrong policemen in town.

They act as follows:

One perpetrator introduces him to you and tells you to be a tourist. He involves you into a dialogue. After a while the other two perpetrators in plainclothes identify themselves as policemen.

They tell that they have to control the wallets. First, the accomplice shows them his wallet therefore you will think to do the same and will hand them out your purse. The wrong policemen will get the purse back to you and they will tell you that everything is all right... But your money will be stolen unseen.

- ☞ Please be cautious when unknown persons want to control your ID or wallet, tourists are normally not controlled by policemen in plainclothes.
- ☞ The persons identify themselves with wrong police documents.
- ☞ Don't let distract or involve you into a dialogue with other tourists, as they could be accomplices.
